

The Boston Globe

Names

MARK SHANAHAN & MEREDITH GOLDSTEIN

September 12, 2011

LARA CALLAHAN

Peter Gammons, Theo Epstein, Dicky Barrett, Kay Hanley, and Tim "Johnny Vegas" Burton at Fenway.

Mixing and mingling at Fenway

The Foundation to Be Named Later — the charity run by Peter Gammons and Theo and Paul Epstein — hosted a party before the second Dropkick Murphys performance at Fenway Park last week. The Friday-night get-together on the Cumberland Farms Roof Deck was attended by Mighty Mighty Bosstones Dicky Barrett and Tim "Johnny Vegas" Burton, rocker Kay Hanley, Blue Inc. chef Jason Santos, Salty Pig co-owner Michael Moxley, Theo Epstein's wife, Marie Whitney, Foundation Director Allyce Najimy, WBZ's Paul Burton, WHDH-TV's Dan Hausle with his wife, Laura, and music managers Mark Kates and Michael Creamer. The Foundation to Be Named Later continued the fun on Saturday at the Bank of America Pavilion where execs hosted a day of games, craft projects, and lunch for 200 kids affiliated with Room to Grow, the West End House Boys and Girls Club, and Horizons for Homeless Children.